Small marks. Wonderful beginnings.

PREFACE

Every line is a beginning. A scribble can become a cloud, a circle can become a friend, and a small piece of paper can open a new world.

Art Spark invites children to explore drawing through generous spaces, playful stories and achievable tasks. The journey moves from big marks and simple lines to colouring, picture-making, tearing, cutting and one-fold paper activities.

The small examples offer a helpful starting point. They are not a test of neatness. Encourage children to choose colours, try their own ideas and enjoy the marks they make.

Share the activity, talk about the picture and celebrate the child's effort. A little guidance leaves plenty of room for imagination.

A NOTE FOR ADULTS

Make room to explore

Use a pencil and wax crayons for drawing. Keep a glue stick and child-safe scissors ready. All craft paper is supplied in this book.

Let the child do the making

Read one instruction aloud. Show the small example, then let the child try. Broad, uneven marks are welcome. Pause when needed.

Use the paper treasures

Cut, fold and paste together

An adult guides scissors and folds. Cut solid outlines; fold dashed lines. Keep each set with its activity. Use a light coat of glue and let it dry.

The resource sheets have blank backs. The small picture is a guide; every child's picture is their own.
